Probers Call Off Grilling Of Hoffa; Charge 'Witness Has No Memory' ...New Subpoena Handed To Teamster

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rack-ets investigators abruptly called off Friday their grilling of Teamsters Union boss James R. Hoffa with the scornful charge that "the witness has no memory."

The select committee acted after Hoffa, heir apparent to Dave Beck as president of the big-union,

Reactor Fund Bill To Ike

Includes Increase For Hallam Site

The $2.3 billion appropriations bill carrying funds to run the federal atomic program in the coming year including money for the nuclear reactor plant at Hallam, Neb., passed the Senate and has been rushed to President Eisenhower.

The Senate passed the measure, which included appropriations for three controversial government-built reactor projects, Friday by a voice vote.

The Senate increased to $51,503,000 the amount included for an atomic power plant to be built at Hallam, the Associated Press reported from Washington.

The House bill had provided only $3,150,000 for the plant, to be constructed under a contract being negotiated with Consumers Public Power District.

After the Senate action, conferees met quickly and accepted the higher Senate figures, which were then approved by the House.

In Columbus, Consumers General Manager Ray L. Schacht said he could not say why the amount was increased but indicated he did not think the change would make any difference to Consumers.

He pointed out that $51,503,000 is the full amount expected to be spent in construction and operation of the Hallam plant. The $3,150,000 appropriation by the House was presumably planned to cover all the costs during the present fiscal year, he said, and was the amount requested by the AEC.

The $51,503,000 figure was authorized in a money authorization bill that has been signed by the President. Schacht pointed out that usual practice is for the Congress to pass an authorization bill covering the full cost of a project but to actually only appropriate money enough to cover the expenses during the fiscal year. Future appropriations are then needed for continuation of the work.

U. S. Probes Syria Crisis

Dulles Sends Ace Trouble Shooter To Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles disclosed Friday he has sent an ace trouble shooter, Loy Henderson, to the Middle East for urgent talks with friendly leaders on the Syrian situation.

A State Department announcement issued some 24 hours after departure said the 65-year-old Henderson left by air Thursday for Ankara.

There, he will consult with Premier Adnan Menderes and American Ambassador Fletcher Warren and other Turkish officials. Presumably, he will meet also with Jordan's King Hussein and Iraq's King Faisal who, together with leaders from Lebanon, are conferring at Ankara with Menderes and Turkish President Celal Bayar.

Turkey is Henderson's first call. State Department press chief Lincoln White said Henderson will decide there what other Middle East countries to visit.

Turkey, a neighbor of both Russia and Syria, is closely allied with the United States. The Turks are members of the North Atlantic and Baghdad pacts. They are reported fearful of being outflanked by the Communists if Syria, whose Army has been seized by pro-Soviet officers amid an outburst of anti-Americanism, becomes an outpost of Soviet satellite.

Dulles' instructions to Henderson were to obtain first hand impressions of developments in the area and reactions to those developments there.

Henderson will report by cable regularly to Dulles.

President Eisenhower told his news conference last Wednesday it has been impossible to tell how far Syria has slid toward becoming a Soviet satellite because "we don't know exactly what is happening." But he said Syria was following a pattern whose ultimate result would be Moscow domination.

Meanwhile, there were reports in diplomatic circles that the Soviet defense minister, Georgi Zhukov, may visit Syria.

Well-informed sources said this would be a logical follow-up to the arms deal which Syria's acting defense minister, Khaleel Azm, made two weeks ago on a visit to the Kremlin.

Azm, just back from Moscow, was quoted in Damascus as saying he invited Soviet leaders for a return visit to Syria. No names were mentioned. There was some speculation that Soviet party boss Nikita Khrushchev might go along in a move to widen the gains communism appears to have made in Syria.

Paper Strike Settled

Detroit Dailies' Tieup Ends

DETROIT (AP)—The six-day old labor dispute that had tied up publication of Detroit's three major daily newspapers was reported settled Friday night. No details of the settlement were available.

Announcement of the settlement followed a day long meeting between representatives of the Detroit Newspaper Publishers Assn. and officials of editorial and craft unions at the three newspapers.

It came after James R. Hoffa, Teamsters Union vice president, flew into Detroit from Washington to take part in the negotiations.

Hoffa was learned to have entered the discussions with a proposal. The nature of this was not disclosed.

The strike which began Saturday when the Detroit News fired 67 mailers for "refusing to work" had also shut down the Times and Free Press because of a publishers' agreement.

The Detroit Mailers Union had charged the News with "inhuman treatment."

ONE DIVISION ELIMINATED

16 Depots, Arsenal and Other Facilities To Close

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army pulled in its economy belt Friday with a series of moves designed to bring it under the spending limits fixed for the military services.

- The Army announced it will:
1. Cut its civilian payroll by 15,000 workers.
 2. Close down 16 depots, arsenals, storage plants and other facilities.
 3. Eliminate the 2nd Infantry Div., now in Alaska, and replace it with a "streamlined force especially tailored to perform its mission."
 4. Cut out 18 anti-aircraft battalions.

No Change In Europe, Korea
The Army said there will be no reduction in the five divisions now stationed in Western Europe or the two divisions in Korea.

The Navy and the Air Force already have announced civilian payroll cuts of 18,000 and 20,000, respectively. With the Army's cut of 15,000, the total reduction in the overall civilian work force of 1,160,000 will be 53,000. Part of the reduction will be accomplished by not filling vacancies that occur.

The economy program throughout the Defense Department stems from the administration's decision to hold military spending to 38 billion dollars during the 12 months that started July 1.

Most to Air Force
The Army got the smallest share, $8,950,000,000. The Air Force allotment was $17,900,000,000 and the Navy's $10,400,000,000. The balance was assigned to Defense Department and interservice activities.

Secretary Wilson also directed the Army to absorb 50,000 of a 100,000-man cut in the authorized service strength of 2,800,000.

In order to do this, the Army said Friday there will be some additional cutbacks of combat and combat support and service support elements, both at home and abroad.

The Army said a decision will be made later as to the disposition of the 2nd Infantry's divisional designation. Elimination of this division, which is in Alaska at reduced strength, will cut the number of Army divisions to 16 by January, 1958.

122 Battalions
As of June 30, the Army had 122 anti-aircraft battalions, many of them manning Nike guided missile bases, and had planned to add four more this year. Officials were unable to say whether the 18-battalion reduction applies to the planned total of 126 or to the June total of 122.

Included among the facilities to be closed down are the Murphy Army Hospital at Waltham, Mass., which is to close Jan. 1 and the Seattle, Wash., Army terminal, scheduled for closing Oct. 1.

In addition, eight depots and storage facilities around the country will be closed between this Aug. 31 and Dec. 31, 1958, and six government-owned arsenals and ordnance plants will be shut down.

None was listed as in Nebraska.

Lost Girls Believed Buried

... Sand Probed

DIXON, Ill. (AP)—Fears heightened Friday night that three young sisters were buried alive after shoes belonging to each of the girls were found in an abandoned quarry.

A hundred rain-soaked workers were digging with steam shovels and spades in a 30-foot pile of sand and dirt used to fill the huge pit.

Officers in command of the search expected the digging to yield the bodies of the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Gurnsey, Nancy, 10, Ruth, 9, and Theresa, 8.

The youngsters walked away Wednesday from their trailer home a few miles west of Dixon, in an area surrounded by rough terrain and wooded areas 100 miles west of Chicago.

Earlier Friday about 1,000 workers had launched an air, land and river search for the girls. Later, searchers noticed footprints around the quarry near the Medusa Cement Co. plant 2 miles northeast of Dixon.

Grappling hooks were dragged through the mound of sand and three pairs of shoes were turned up — brown loafers, white sandals, and black and white oxfords.

Mrs. Gurnsey identified the shoes as belonging to her daughters.

Officials theorized the sisters were playing on the mound in the bottom of the pit and were buried either when a cave they might have dug collapsed on them or when an additional truck load of dirt was dumped onto the pile from the quarry rim.

The girls' father had contracted with the cement company to fill the pit, and had been bringing in dirt from the surrounding area.

Escapee Still Free

John Ault, 20, of Omaha who escaped from the Men's Reformatory Friday night, was reported still at large early Saturday morning. Ault was sentenced to the reformatory on a robbery charge. He was reportedly wearing a white shirt and is 6 feet 1/2 inch tall and weighs 165 pounds.

Deadlock Over Civil Rights Broken

Passage Next Week Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise civil rights bill was agreed upon Friday by congressional leaders in an extraordinary series of conferences that shattered a deadlock delaying the adjournment of Congress.

The leaders, Democratic and Republican, predicted the compromise could slide through Congress next week, clearing the way for adjournment. President Eisenhower was reported ready to accept it.

The heart of the compromise is a sort of hybrid between the conflicting concepts of jury trials and trial by judges in criminal contempt of court cases arising from alleged violations of voting rights.

It would work this way: In a voting rights case, if a person were accused of criminal contempt for violating a Federal Court order, the judge would decide whether to try the case with or without a jury.

In either case, the maximum punishment could not exceed six months imprisonment and $1,000 fine.

But if the trial were conducted without a jury and the judge imposed a penalty greater than 45 days imprisonment or $300 fine the defendant could demand a completely new trial before a jury.

The compromise thus steered a middle ground between the bill as passed by the Senate — providing jury trials in all voting rights cases and a variety of other injunction procedures as well — and the Republican proposal that jury trials should be guaranteed only in voting rights cases and then only if the possible penalty exceeded $300 or 90 days imprisonment.

3 Persons Slightly Injured Following Head-On Collision

Three persons were slightly injured in a two-car head-on collision a mile northwest of Steve's Steakhouse on U.S. 34 Friday night.

The injured were Mrs. Guy King, 59, of Mullen, who suffered lacerations on her forehead and bruises and abrasions about her body. She was treated at Lincoln General Hospital and reported in good condition.

Her husband suffered facial lacerations. He was treated at the hospital and dismissed.

The driver of the other car, Paul Kalous, 23, of the Lincoln Air Force Base, suffered facial lacerations. He was taken to the base dispensary for treatment.

The Safety Patrol said King was driving southeast and Kalous northwest at the time the accident occurred.

Control Board Revises Kearney School Figures

The State Board of Control Friday revised upward its population figures for the Kearney Boys' Training School from those released Monday in the board's semi-annual population survey.

Corrected population figures show 238 residents at the boys' training school, rather than 144 as first released, the board said.

The revision brings the total resident population at state institutions to 8,730.

Roy W. Peters Named To VA Regional Post

Roy W. Peters has been named by the Veterans Administration as the new assistant manager of the Lincoln V.A. regional office.

Peters, 46, is a native of Indiana and a graduate of Purdue University. He served with the army from 1942 to 1946, attaining the rank of 11. colonel.

In 1948 he joined the Milwaukee regional office as chief of the administration division and in 1956 became the management analyst there.

A. H. Duxbury, manager of the Lincoln office, said it is expected that Peters will arrive in Lincoln shortly. Peters will fill the vacancy created by the promotion of Duxbury to manager.

Consumers Board OKs Line Sale

... At Beatrice

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP) — The Consumers Public Power District Board of Directors Friday approved an agreement to sell its present transmission lines and related equipment in the Beatrice area to Norris Public Power District provided the Norris District's new power contract with Beatrice is not declared invalid.

Consumers, which now provides Beatrice with power, has indicated it plans to take court action to test the validity of the Norris contract which is to take effect next April 15.

Consumers said it expects Norris to approve the agreement which provides for sale of the Beatrice equipment to Norris for $76,758.

According to Mark Moore of Kearney, Consumers president, Consumers acted on the agreement in the best interest of electric power users in the Beatrice area. Speaking for Consumers management he said they were "firmly opposed to any duplication of electric transmission facilities."

The equipment transfer contract which includes CPD's power transmission lines now serving Beatrice will be effective April 15, pending two qualifications.

1. If prior to April 15 Beatrice expresses its desire not to take service from Norris, and

2. If there is a court order preventing Norris from performing its contract with the city.

The contract came about when Beatrice awarded Norris a contract to sell Beatrice electric power at wholesale. Consumers has sold wholesale power to Beatrice for more than 10 years.

Lauds Co-operation

In commenting on the action of Consumers' directors, Lester Trussell of Beatrice, manager of Norris Public Power District, told The Star he was "glad to find out we (the two districts) can get together." He thought the move showed a spirit of co-operation.

Trussell said he expected the Norris Power directors to approve the agreement if the terms remain as submitted by his district.

Also present will be James Ager, park superintendent; James Lewis, city recreation director and John Peterson, Pioneers golf pro.

Iowa Governor Force Lands At Scottsbluff

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP) — An Iowa Air National Guard C47, with Gov. Herschel Loveless and 19 others aboard, made an emergency landing here Friday afternoon.

The plane was on its way to Casper, Wyo., where Iowa officials will take part Saturday in Governor's Days ceremonies of the Iowa-Nebraska Air National Guard in training there.

The C47 developed an oil leak in one engine about 50 miles west of here about 1:30 p.m. and returned safely to the Scottsbluff Airport. None of the persons aboard was injured.

The Iowa Air Guard dispatched another plane to Scottsbluff to carry the passengers to Casper.

DRIVERS MUST PROVE OWNING LICENSE-PATROL

Col. C. J. Sanders of the State Safety Patrol said Friday that Nebraska motorists must be prepared to prove they have a driver's license during the period it is being processed for renewal.

Motorists not having a license when stopped by a patrolman, Col. Sanders continued, or if they do not have it because it is being renewed, may be given a "violation card." He pointed out this card is also given for defective auto equipment, such as a poor headlight.

He explained the motorists then must get the signature of the county treasurer, sheriff or some other responsible official on the "violation card," and then return it to the Patrol. If it is not received during a specified period of time, action is usually taken.

Auto licenses expire Sept. 1, with state law permitting a 60-day renewal period.

Colonel Is Acquitted In Deaths

... 4 GIs Killed

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP) — A general court martial board Friday acquitted Lt. Col. Walter Berger of four charges of negligent homicide and one charge of dereliction of duty.

The court started deliberations at 3:32 p.m. and returned the verdict of innocent at 5:35 p.m. Berger was charged in the June 22 deaths of four infantry soldiers during a training exercise at Ft. Sill, U.S. Army artillery center.

"I am very appreciative and thankful for the way things have turned out," Berger said. "I also would like to express my sorrow for the tragic incident and just wish it had never happened."

Asked if at any time during the two-day trial he had felt he would not be cleared, Berger stated: "As a career officer I had nothing to live for except hope of acquittal."

Berger, 41-year-old veteran of 16 years in the Army, pleaded innocent to all five counts as the court martial opened Thursday. Four soldiers were killed and 13 others hurt when mortar shells fell among advancing troops.

Maj. Henry Olk, defense counsel for the Philadelphia, Pa., officer, told the court in his closing argument a series of events not related to orders by Berger, second in command of artillery fire, led to the fatal accident.

Olk said character witnesses testified the colonel was a "meticulous and careful officer." He added that although there had been conflicting testimony concerning circumstances of the accident, he believed everyone told the truth "to the best of his ability."

McClellan Unit Exploring Evidence Of Multimillion Dollar Military Waste

AF, Army Involved In Mixup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) announced Friday he is exploring evidence of multimillion dollar military waste and mismanagement.

Recessing his special labor-management racket committee, McClellan took command again of his Senate Investigations subcommittee to show, he said, how the Air Force and Army got involved in a costly mixup, and how a warrant officer buried $33,000 worth of spare parts.

McClellan said preliminary investigation by his group has resulted in the Pentagon recovering 20 million dollars of excessive spare parts from air bases in Newfoundland, Labrador and Greenland that was going to ruin.

He said this leaves excess supplies worth "many millions of dollars" now being salvaged or recovered at those bases.

"Excessive" The Pentagon acted to recover the items, he said, after his subcommittee's investigation showed that "from 1950 to 1957 spare parts for technical equipment, such as airplanes, vehicles, and heavy construction material, were tremendously excessive in the Northeast Air Command which embraced those bases."

"Improper inventory practices, inaccuracy of stock record cards, co-mingling of spare part items, plus numerous untrained civilian native personnel in the Supply Department, were some of the causes," he said.

"Storing of many spare parts on the beaches with exposure to the weather resulted in the destruction of identifying data and caused some of the items to become unusable. Many parts were sent to base disposal for sale as scrap, when, in fact, they were needed by units."

Spare Parts McClellan said the investigation has shown that at the Ernest Harmon Base in Newfoundland, the 823rd Air Force Battalion, operating under the Air Force, needed $75,000 worth of spare parts to operate at a time when it had more than a million dollars' worth in stock.

"In one startling instance," the senator said, "a warrant officer actually buried $33,000 worth of spare parts in direct contradiction of all regulations." He did not name the man.

The Pentagon said it had no immediate comment on McClellan's report but probably will issue a statement Saturday.

—Fish Poisoning Case— Rapp Plans New Action

Attorneys for William Rapp Jr., State Health Department employee convicted in a fish poisoning case, said Friday they had filed a motion for a new trial for a habeas corpus action growing out of the case.

The motion filed in Saline County Court at Wilber, is "a possible step to filing an appeal," said a spokesman for the law office of Lincoln attorney Bernard Gradwohl, one of Rapp's attorneys.

At issue is whether the State Pardon Board has authority to cancel court costs assessed against Rapp.

Rapp was convicted in 1956 of allowing poisonous chemicals to get into the Blue River, killing a number of fish.

He was fined $100 and assessed $176 court costs.

In April, the State Pardon Board granted Rapp a full pardon and remitted the fine and court costs.

Subsequently, Rapp was jailed in Wilber for seven hours on an order requiring payment of court costs notwithstanding the Pardon Board's action. This prompted the habeas corpus action.

Rapp has been free on recognizance since that time.

Several young Lincolinites, as U.S. Marine Corps Reservists on active duty, stormed the beach at Coronado, Calif., in a full-scale amphibious landing.

Their group is part of the 86th Special Infantry Company, USMCR, of Lincoln, training at Landing Force Training Unit, Coronado.

Next week the Lincoln unit will move to the Marine Corps rifle range, Camp Matthews, for a week of weapons and helicopter training under the guidance of the Weapons Training Battalion.

The Lincoln Marines will return Aug. 30.

Martin: Diagonal Is 'More Modern' Than Parkway Leg

Mayor Bennett S. Martin had praise for the "second leg" of the Southeast Diagonal now under construction from 27th and D to South as "much more modern" than the present completed stretch of Capital Parkway.

Martin, who said he recently saw the plans, commented the new section "will make the other part look a little outdated" and explained that more concern with the sharpness of curves and with approaches made the difference.

The mayor also announced that contracts with the state stated that the A Street crossing between 33rd and the Antelope park entrance was scheduled to re-open for traffic by Nov. 1.

Bottle Companies To Request Share In Meter Cost

Lincoln bottling companies will be represented Monday before the City Council to request the city share in the cost of new water meters required because of the sewer use fee.

Atty. William L. Walker will represent the bottling companies in asking the councilmen to consider levying only a percentage of the usual sewer use fee on the companies because of the expense of installing meters at the plants to determine how much the bottling companies should pay.

Walker stated that public Works Director D. L. Erickson has informally approved the bottlers use of city sewers to dump the plants' rinse waters if the additional meters are installed.

House Acts Again On Military Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the third time this month, the House Friday passed and sent to the Senate a $1,734,011,947 supplemental appropriation bill containing about 1½ billions for military construction.

The bill includes $848,000 for the Lincoln Air Force Base, $10,700,000 for Offutt Air Force Base, and $249,000 for the Sioux Ordnance Depot at Sidney.

The bill has been shuttling back and forth between the House and the Senate because of disagreements over amounts included for various projects. There have been no disagreements on the Nebraska projects, however.

—LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL REPORT— Unicameral Passed Half Of Recommended Bills

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

A report on the disposition of 42 bills recommended by the Legislative Council to the 1957 Legislature shows that 24 were enacted, seven killed, two withdrawn and two vetoed by the governor. Seven bills prepared were not introduced.

With Nebraska's 43 senators getting ready to begin their interim Legislative Council studies, a report on the success of the last Council's activities was made by Mrs. Marguerite Price, assistant director of the Council.

The Committee on Highway Planning recommended 10 bills dealing with motor vehicles or their operation. Nine were enacted and one was withdrawn.

County Government The two bills recommended by the Committee on County Government, the one recommended by the Committee on the Board of Control and the one recommended by the Committee on the Institutional Building Fund were enacted.

Of five bills introduced as a result of recommendations by the Committee on Game Forestation and Parks, three became law, one was killed and one was vetoed.

The only bill introduced by the Committee on Pleadings and Appeals, to provide uniform procedure for proceedings before administrative agencies, was vetoed.

Poultry Slaughtering The bill recommended by the Committee on Poultry Inspection, which would have included poultry slaughtering houses under statutes covering slaughter houses, was withdrawn.

A fifty per cent batting average was registered by the committee studying gas utilities, with one bill killed and one enacted.

The Committee on Mentally Retarded Children recommended one bill, which would have redefined handicapped children and provided special education for trainable retarded children, but the measure failed to pass.

Two Out Of Three The committee studying taxation recommended three bills, two of which became law, with the other indefinitely postponed.

Two of the five bills recommended by the Committee on School Laws

Governor Lists Four Members Of New Board ... Public Accountancy

Gov. Victor Anderson has announced his appointments to the newly-created Board of Public Accountancy.

A bill passed by the last Legislature, LB 226, created the new board to regulate the profession.

The state auditor, Ray Johnson, is to serve as secretary and have charge of the board's records.

Appointed to the board were: John P. Begley, Creighton University, Omaha, for a one-year term expiring Sept. 20, 1958.

Otto G. Hallgren Sr., Omaha, president of the Nebraska Assn. of Public Accountants, two-year term.

Walter Witthoff, Fremont, three-year term.

E. Ross Martin, Lincoln, three-year term.

Under terms of the law, which becomes effective Sept. 20, three board members shall be certified public accountants in active practice and one shall be a person registered and qualified as a public accountant.

Gothenburg Attorney Files For Legislature

A Gothenburg attorney, William S. Padley, filed Friday as a candidate in the 1958 primary election for the Nebraska Legislature in the 36th District, the seat now held by Arthur W. Swanson of Holdrege.

The 36th District is comprised of Dawson, Phelps and Gosper Counties.

Padley's filing marked the second bid for a legislative seat received thus far by the Secretary of State's office.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, representing the 42nd District, filed for re-election shortly after the close of the 1957 session.

were enacted and three were indefinitely postponed. Two of those killed were incorporated into another bill dealing with teacher certification, however.

The Committee on Ground and Surface Water had all three of its bills enacted.

First Such Report

Mrs. Price said this is the first time the Council has issued a breakdown on the disposition of such bills, adding that members might find the results "encouraging" as they begin their long months of study.

The study groups usually start work in mid-September and continue until they issue reports and recommendations in mid-November of the following year.

Subjects to be considered are:

Tax law violations; installment loans and retail credit practices; secondary boycott; heating arts; fish and game, recreation; ground water, oil and gas conversion; sales and income tax; cash funds and budgeting; retirement system, highway use, taxation and budget.

U.S. OFFICIALS 'HARD WORKERS' —LINCOLN MAN

Lincoln realtor Earle Vincent Johnson, recently appointed U.S. deputy chief appraiser of the General Services Administration, returned to Lincoln Friday and voiced an opinion that the "top federal officials" are "the hardest working crew I've seen."

Johnson, at his post in Washington, D. C., since late spring, said he appraises property the federal government owns, buys, sells or leases and he "never liked anything better."

Pointing out that the federal government is the largest property owner in the United States, Johnson said the importance of setting proper valuation on real estate is well recognized.

He and his wife returned to Lincoln Thursday and will remain until next Friday.

MOBILE HOME BUILDERS ASK FOR PERMITS ... For Wide Trailers

Representatives of mobile home manufacturers have 10 days to file briefs supporting their requests to State Engineer L. N. Ress for a special permit to haul 10-foot-wide house trailers "on their own wheels" in Nebraska.

At a hearing at the Statehouse Friday, Ress said the trend toward bigger vehicles on highways "is getting a little out of hand."

He said highway building costs become "unreasonable" if roads must be geared to continually larger vehicles.

8-Foot Limit The state limitation on house trailers being hauled on their own wheels is eight feet, unless a special permit is obtained.

Trailer manufacturer Daniel Katzman of Omaha said hauling trailers on their own wheels is safer than pulling them on "low-boy trailers" as is done in Nebraska.

Lincoln attorney Robert Crosby, representing a group of manufacturers, said the group is not proposing unrestricted 10-foot width, but would move house trailers only under safety regulations imposed by the Highway Department.

John Kelley, assistant chief of the Nebraska Resources Division, said a Michigan mobile home manufacturer is considering opening a factory in the midwest but won't come into Nebraska unless the state adopts a 10-foot-wide policy.

Curtis Bill On Deck

Senator Carl Curtis can report progress on his Senate bill designed to speed the dispersal of industry—we hope, our way. It has reached the Senate Banking Committee where consideration either will relegate it to limbo or put it out to the Senate for action.

The Curtis bill in itself does not order industry around. It asks rather that the Office of Defense Mobilization submit reports every six months to the House and Senate to show what, if anything, has been done toward promoting dispersal.

Some may conclude that a bill with so little force amounts to shadow boxing. But there is merit in the Curtis measure in that it sets up a target and keeps it in the ODM's mind. Without such a device it becomes too easy to lose sight of dispersal under the pressure of hard day by day concerns.

The measure is timely. The administration is putting emphasis both on security and on economy. Security can be no better served than by the removal of vital production from heavily concentrated areas. And economy, real economy, advises the government to reactivate many of its now closed wartime production plants and place also more of a burden on small industry. The general experience with the latter during World War II demonstrated its will and capacity for dependable products at reasonable cost. And as for the former, well, Nebraska for one has sites developed at public expense during that war which are now lacking use.

We agree that industrial dispersal cannot come abruptly. The economic repercussions would be too great. But the principle inevitably must be established and it seems imprudent in the face of that to continue concentration. It is in the development of blind spots such as this that a nation courts disaster even while trying otherwise to guard against it.

Each One A King

When Sherman Adams, Ike's most valued administrative secretary, opens his mouth, the words coming forth are final. Mr. Adams speaks with authority when he speaks. When John Foster Dulles has something to say, it comes close to being final itself.

There was a joker, possibly a very serious one, buried in the Dulles announcement authorizing 24 American newsmen to visit Red China for a report on that country. It is a permission covering six to seven months. But well down in the Associated Press report on the State Department's ruling in this matter was this apparently innocuous paragraph:

"At the end of the experimental period, Dulles would decide whether the idea worked. Officials said the chief factor in the decision would be whether the newsmen were able to report freely or whether they were so inhibited as to make their dispatches virtually meaningless."

Now it is one thing for Secretary Dulles to prohibit Americans from visiting Red China on a basis that such travel is unsafe or that it is illegal for American citizens to have any truck with a country that we still label an enemy. When Mr. Dulles places newsmen under ban for reasons of safety or of law, at least he still has a good point to argue, although many may disagree with it.

At the end of a half year's trial period, however, when Mr. Dulles tries to make a ruling based on whether newsmen's dispatches are virtually meaningless, he'll be stepping into a field long denied government. It will be a sad day when Uncle Sam takes himself into the business of evaluating news stories gathered at the expense of private news organizations for publication by a press which at all times except in war time has been free from censorship and even in times of war free from all censorship except that directly related to war security.

We doubt that any American newspaper, magazine or news service is going to be led astray in the real value of the work of its correspondent in China. After all, it is the newspaper, the magazine or the news service which pays the expense of maintaining its man there. That, it would not do if his dispatches turned out to be worthless.

Possibly the secretary has let the cat out of the bag. All the time he was refusing to allow correspondents to go to China while talking piously about the correspondents' safety and laws against dealing with an enemy nation, he really was censoring news, and out of step with American conceptions of freedom of the press.

It is the secretary of state's job in this country to conduct foreign relations; the newsmen's job to get the news as he sees it without government interference. The American people have their own way of punishing irresponsible news reporting—usually by ignoring it. In the news business, it is fatal to be ignored. The nation also has its ways of punishing a secretary of state who decides it is his mission to censor news.

Editorial Of The Day

Time And Trouble

From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch

Sometimes we are not too happy about rules and regulations prescribed for us by the Missouri Legislature, but Nebraska's lawmakers would have us in real trouble. They have just decreed that all clocks in the state must show Standard time. And this surely ought to mean correct Central Standard time. Otherwise a scowling or alibi-artist might argue that his clock shows Standard time for California, Greenwich or the Diomed Islands and thus escape the prescribed fine of $25 to $100.

It is a good thing that our big eight-day clock is not in Nebraska since it generally indicates anything but Standard time. It is lucky to be wound once in 16 days or 24, and it is set more rarely; but anybody in the family may get the notion that it is running too fast or too slow and move the little lever a notch or two toward F or S, a further contribution to its inaccuracy. Of course, there are electric clocks around the place, but they are likely to be unplugged while a carpet-sweeper, iron or toaster is in use. As for watches, they often go unworn or unwound. When we do pick up a watch for a day, it is set by guess. How else can it be done with the clocks pointing in as many directions as a compass at the Pole?

In Missouri this only adds a pleasant touch of casualness to life, but in Nebraska it might cost us time after time. Clocks and watches alike would have to be hidden beyond the eyes of the law. And we probably would try to tell the time by waiting for old No. 29 to whistle for the curve, at least until we remembered that old No. 29 was dieselized long ago.

GOP Wants Its Share Of Civil Rights Credit

WASHINGTON — Several backstage factors, hassles, and wire-pullers caused all the backing and filling over the civil rights bill.

One was the fact that Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas got so much credit for putting across the Senate bill that the Republicans had to figure out how they could get more credit. One way was to stall and claim that the Senate bill was a bad bill.

Another factor was Vice President Nixon who consistently and energetically pulled wires for delay. He had fought hard to defeat the jury trial amendment, lost that fight, and felt that if the civil rights bill went over till the next session of Congress, the Senate would be in Republican hands and he could then win. It was Nixon's California friends in the House Republican conference who fought hardest for a tougher civil rights bill.

Another hassle was between Republican factions. In some respects they were almost as split as the Democrats.

Finally, there was the unusual spectre of an Alphonse-Gaston act between two old friends who are not usually prima donnas, speaker Sam Rayburn, Democrat, of Texas and ex-Speaker Joe Martin, Republican of Massachusetts.

For a while neither would speak to the other about breaking the deadlock in the House Rules Committee. Joe even told the four Republican members of that committee that he didn't want them to do anything about getting a vote on civil rights until Speaker Sam approached him.

JOE'S HURT FEELINGS

Real fact was that good old Joe Martin, supposed to be as tough a politician as ever served in Washington, had hurt feelings. He would never admit this, but friends say it was a fact. Perhaps he was justified.

For when the battling over civil rights reached its toughest point in the House of Representatives, Joe Martin sat down at breakfast with Clarence Mitchell, Washington representative of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Name by name they went over the list of wayward Republicans.

These were the sixty to seventy Republicans who planned to line up with the South on the jury trial amendment. Joe knew these men intimately, told Mitchell how to influence their vote. He himself also went to bat to win their vote. And it was because of his own energetic work that the jury trial amendment was so overwhelmingly defeated in the House.

But today, having used his personal efforts to defeat the jury trial amendment, Joe is in the position of having to swallow it. That's why he's irked and waited for his old friend Sam Rayburn to approach him first.

ED FITZHUGH

Who Wants To Be Rich And Worried?

The Internal Revenue Service has announced somewhat sadly that in 1953, the last year for which tabulations are complete, only 145 persons reported incomes of more than a million dollars. It seems there just isn't the wealth to share that there used to be.

Still, 145 persons earning a million dollars, even though they got to keep probably $100,000 each out of the swag, make up a tidy little group for which, possibly, 145,000 Americans will feel a tinge of envy. The rest of the people will be content with things as they are, for a variety of reasons. The best reason of all is, who needs the little slice of a million that the government would let you keep, when any man can be a millionaire, tax free, by just stepping out his back door this season of the year? Ullers can't compare with the summer tone in the air, and dividends cannot hold a candle to flowers looking up at the sun.

There is a wealth you cannot write down on a tax return in the sight of fleecy clouds racing across the high sky, or the antics of a robin cocking his head toward the underground sound of his next meal. The anticipation of a dollar is a pale thing indeed compared to the sound of children's play coming across the back lots on days such as these.

Cynics scoff, and a few may even believe their scoffing, when someone says that money isn't everything. But there is a whole lot of the best in the world that doesn't have a price tag on it. I have had the great good fortune to know personally three bona fide millionaires in my life, and what made it my good fortune was that I came to know for sure there wasn't a one of them with whom I would trade places.

BERNARD BARUCH

Had Made Third Million By Thirtieth Birthday

By KAY BARRINGTON
NEW YORK — Analyzing his distinguished career, Bernard Baruch is modest and matter-of-fact. "All men," he says, "are self-made."

Like a typical Horatio Alger hero, Baruch attributes success to hard work, honesty and clear thinking and, in his memoirs, returns to this theme again and again.

The first volume covers the years from 1870 to World War I. Mr. Baruch, in a forthright manner, touches upon many subjects: family life, religion, famous speculators, how he made his first million, the obligations of wealth, the nature of education, and the future of America. But primarily, he writes of market operations and matters in the public domain.

Baruch spent his first ten years in Camden, South Carolina. His father had emigrated from Germany, become a country doctor and served in the Confederate Army. His mother, Isabelle Wolfe, was the daughter of an impoverished plantation owner whose ancestors had come to America in the 1690's. Both sides were of Spanish-Portuguese origin.

The family moved to New York in 1880. At City College, Baruch writes, he read the Greek and Latin classics and learned to think. He also learned the law of supply and demand.

Upon graduation, Baruch went to work in a brokerage house. His clerk's salary was $3 a week. He studied bookkeeping and contract law. He kept his "good right ear" open. He learned the value of superior research.

"At thirty-two, I had all the money I imagined I should ever need or want. I had, in fact, $100,000 for every year of my age, and I had it in cash. This fortune had been made in five years' time."

In 1903, he opened his own office, and as agent for the Guggenheims entered the world of raw materials. Until World War I, when he became chairman of the war industries board, Baruch invested in companies which "sought to develop new sources of supply for such varied materials as copper, rubber, iron ore, gold and sulfur. . . these enterprises were creators of true wealth, not money but of things that were useful."

Elsewhere, Mr. Baruch writes of his wife and children; of Hobcaw Barony, his 17,000-acre South Carolina plantation; of its famous guests. He gives 10 "rules" of investing for "those who are able to master the necessary self-discipline," and defines a speculator as "a man who observes the future and acts before it occurs."

Volume two of "My Own Story," is scheduled for publication in 1958.

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH

Stories Of Famous Hymns

Saviour, Draw Me To Thy Side

Saviour, draw me to Thy side,
Nearer still, nearer still!
There would I in peace abide,
Nearer still, nearer still.
Draw me closer, Lord, to Thee,
Let me now Thy beauty see;
Help me, Lord, to know Thy will,
Draw me closer, closer still.

May Thy love within me shine,
Brighter still, brighter still!
As a beacon light of Thine,
Brighter still, brighter still.
Draw me closer, Lord, to Thee,
Let me now Thy beauty see;
Help me, Lord, to know Thy will,
Draw me closer, closer still.

Lord, I would be in Thy sight
Purer still, purer still!
Make and keep me by Thy might,
Purer still, purer still!
Draw me closer, Lord, to Thee,
Let me now Thy beauty see;
Help me, Lord, to know Thy will,
Draw me closer, closer still.

By HORACE B. POWELL

The affection which this appealing little song has won in the hearts of hymn-lovers everywhere is due, in large measure, to the tune which the gospel hymn composer, Charles H. Gabriel, created for it.

Mr. Gabriel was deeply moved the first time he saw the hymn-poem. It had been written by David J. Beattie of England, and when Homer Rodeheaver wanted to use it in the revival meetings where he was leading the singing for Evangelist "Billy" Sunday, he asked Gabriel to work out a musical setting.

It is said that Gabriel tried to put into his music some of the emotion which the hymn verses had stirred in him. He did his work well and the new song became a soul-winning favorite overnight.

Mrs. Fletcher

Taylor, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: May we commend you on the article published Monday, Aug. 19, entitled "Where The River Flows Swiftly." The article was read at the funeral in Brewster and even though you were not acquainted with the deceased Mrs. Fletcher, your suggestion that she must have had a beautiful and a happy life was so very fitting. For surely she did.

She remembered when U.S. soldiers occupied Fort Hartsuff east of Burwell, and later after moving to Blaine County lived there through the era of "Doc Middleton," famous horse thief. She saw the constant struggle of Brewster in retaining its position as the county seat. She saw a church erected and dedicated there in 1908 and saw it destroyed by fire in January of this year. A new church is under construction and she was to have had a great part in its dedication program for she was the only living charter member of the church and she was a fine musician. The new church though not completed was used for her funeral and several stated they thought no further dedication service would be held.

Mrs. Fletcher was a relative and had you known her personally, you could scarcely have written a more fitting memorial. We enjoyed immensely your appreciation of the Nebraska Sandhills, truly "God's country." We are located on the North Loup River, with the Calamus River 11 miles to the north, and the finest range land in the world. Crops and range lands have been extremely lush this year.

Favorite Quotes

Omaha, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: My favorite quotations from the pens of free-lance writers: W. T. Davis, Lincoln: "The administration has come up with more 'leaders' and less leadership than any other administration of the 20th century."

J. E. Lawrence: "Family farming is a way of life, a phase of the greater Americana."

Dewey Nemetz, Blair: "There are greater dangers than the Communist underground. A man-made depression could weaken us enough to permit Communist conquest or home-grown Fascist rule."

Charles Herrick, Curtis: "The family farmer, by direct cash payments, full parity base, would be saved from extinction. The settlements would hinge around the equivalence value of precisely 5,000 bushels of wheat."

Walter Gabriel, Omaha: "It would be better were we to select the better of all things. Hold fast to them! Then further the ideals so generated, persistently, obediently, yes, courageously!"

L. Pester, Valparaiso: "Anybody can have 'peace' under the aggressor's conditions."

Pay Danker, Upland: "We must learn to detect and isolate sections of speeches that have no bearing upon the subject under discussion — that is, they are a form of spell-binding."

George Marshall, Riverton: "Twas reported that Secretary Benson invoked divine guidance in his 'despair' over the plight of the farmer. We assert that in this he has the most need, for if there ever was a cabinet secretary who needed such guidance, it is Benson."

Winnifred Lewis, Lincoln: "We the humble people whose homes are well within the cities plead that our neat, livable domiciles be spared."

M. S. Daily, Anselmo: "We must separate the drinking and the driving."

Cecil Matthews, Hastings: "I believe in a government that can cross state lines on an errand of general welfare."

Horace Davis, Lincoln: "It will be a dark day when Nebraska loses its consciousness of traditional agricultural society."

Richard Degner: "The point of no return is 57 per cent of parity . . . representing monetary cost of production, but not the farmer's labor nor the American privilege of a percentage on the capital sunk in."

All men who do the smaller things in a greater way!

WALTER GABRIEL

Individual Freedom

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Hurray! Congratulations to the far-sighted individuals seeking to remain "individuals" mentioned in the editorial, "Iowa Farmer's Answer," in the August 21 Star. It is to be hoped that this newborn co-operative movement becomes a social and economic revolution sufficient to acclimate the ensuing technical revolution in agriculture to man and his maximum welfare.

It is my deep belief that in all phases of society — agriculture included — man remains free and an individual of dignity only through co-operation, seeking and attaining avenues of free interaction. I believe sincere cooperation to be society's best formula for deriving its proper balance between the somewhat conflicting values of equality and freedom — each of which is indispensable to the welfare of free individuals. Please note that my conception of the freedom of the individual is not the freedom of the individual — one — (i. e. Hitler, Henry VIII, A. Carnegie, or anyone else who can get the upper hand), but is the freedom of the individual — all.

While some feel that society's health demands the suffering of one or more of its components (i.e. the crumbs-will-trickle-down theory and A. Carnegie's great wealth and great poverty philosophy), I feel that true prosperity should be built from the bottom up with all progressing regardless of level. Feeling such, recognizing agriculture's recurring pattern of poverty in times of prosperity, and seeing the current trend toward agricultural industrialism, I am genuinely relieved to see farmers again indulging in the old but unbeatable exclamation, co-operation, toward the "end" of farm prosperity and the farmer's status of individual dignity as we have known it.

I hope The Star will actively support and encourage this new co-operative movement here in Nebraska.

Were Brides At Friday Weddings

At a candlelight service on Friday evening, Aug. 23, the marriage of Miss Ann Rebecca Griffiths, daughter of Brig. General and Mrs. Loyd Eugene Griffiths of Offutt Air Force Base, to Jerry Harold Copeland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tippitt Copeland of North Platte, took place at the Offutt Air Force Base Chapel. Col. Charles Martene, Chaplain, Strategic Air Command, solemnized the 7:30 o'clock service before a background of white gladioli, white chrysanthemums and pale blue carnations. A.I.C. Norene Bartol, organist, played the wedding music.

Miss Marion Brown of Papillon, the maid of honor and only attendant, appeared in a frock of sapphire blue chiffon over matching taffeta. An insert yoke framed the throat of the brief-sleeved fitted bodice, and the extremely bouffant skirt was ballerina length. Her hair bandeau was fashioned of small white roses and pale blue carnations, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, pale blue carnations and lilies-of-the-valley.

Robert Helson of Lincoln served Mr. Copeland as best man, and the foursome of ushers included Charles Edward Wild, William Foell, both of Lincoln, Charles Clinton, North Platte, and Herbert English of Cheyenne, Wyo.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of silk taffeta in the antique white tone. The shoulder-wide portrait neckline of the fitted bodice, fashioned with bracelet-length sleeves, was patterned with applique of re-embroidered Alencon lace encrusted with seed pearls. Beneath the slender waist the folds

AAUW Board Will Meet

The regular fall board meeting of the Nebraska Division, American Association of University Women, will be held in Lincoln September 13 and 14, at the Hotel Cornhusker, according to an announcement by Miss Lenore P. Ramsey of Wayne, state president.

The two-day meeting will include a workshop and planning session for the state organization's program and activities for the coming year.

Other state officers are Dr. Leona Mae Faylor, Kearney, first vice president; Miss Bernice Elliott, Omaha, second vice president; Miss Lucille Ledwith, Lincoln, recording secretary; and Miss Alma Ashley, Peru, treasurer.

of the skirt flared into extreme fullness and extended into a chapel train. A half-cap of silk braid, dotted with pearls and rhinestone, held to the head her double-tiered veil of imported French illusion, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley, centered with white orchids.

After the reception at the Officers Club Mr. Copeland and his bride left for a honeymoon trip to Colorado, and upon their return they will reside at 2426 A St., Lincoln. For traveling Mrs. Copeland wore a black and gray check suit frock, with brief, velvet-trimmed jacket, with black accessories.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Mr. Copeland is attending the University of Nebraska and is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, and Sigma Gamma Epsilon.

Cathedral candles and arrangements of white chrysanthemums and asters appointed the chancel of the Methodist Church in Beaver Crossing where the wedding of Miss Jennie Dimery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Velmer Dimery of Beaver Crossing, and Bob Eberspacher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Eberspacher, also of Beaver Crossing, took place on Friday evening, Aug. 23. The Rev. Ernest Stewart solemnized the 7 o'clock ceremony, and Miss Joeline Eberspacher, pianist, played the wedding music. Miss Eberspacher also accompanied Miss Carly Weiss of Benkelman.

Mrs. Gene Colclasure of Stillwater, Okla., the matron of honor; and bridesmaids Miss Marilyn Ricebaw, and Miss Pat Kennedy of Waurika, Okla., wore alike frocks of pink faille. Their costumes were completed with garden hats, and each carried a bouquet of pink daisies. Miss Diane Dimery and Denny Eberspacher lighted the candles.

Wesley Eberspacher served his brother as best man, and the groomsmen were Darrel Eberspacher of Seward, and Vel Dimery of Norman, Okla. Seating the guests were Harry Rediger of Seward; Richard Eberspacher, Arnold Wurst and John Rotter.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma and is a member of the Lincoln public schools faculty. Mr. Eberspacher is attending Nebraska Wesleyan University where he is a member of Crescent fraternity, and a member of the Varsity basketball and track teams.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

Suburban residents out Park Manor way are, as usual, ever ready with their multitude of new items. This Saturday morning interest centers on visitors, vacationers, new neighbors, and a party or two.

Guests in Lincoln last week were Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Malowney and their sons, Mike and Johnny, of Gresham, Ore., who were accompanied on their trip by Mrs. Malowney's father, Andy Starkel of Portland, Ore.

Mr. and Mrs. Malowney, who are former Lincoln residents, were visiting at the Park Manor home of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Baker, and have also visited Mr. Malowney's mother, Mrs. T. J. Malowney, at her home in Wymore; his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Malowney in Mason City, Ia., and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Krause of Omaha.

On last Saturday evening's agenda for the Bakers and their guests was dinner followed by dancing at East Hills, and former friends of Mr. and Mrs. Malowney were invited to join the party.

Arriving at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Harrison on Friday, Aug. 16, was Mr. Harrison's mother, Mrs. Vera Harrison of Springfield, Ill.

During her two week stay in town Mrs. Harrison has also been visiting her grandson-in-law and granddaughter, Lt. and Mrs. Thomas Beal, and her great-grandchildren, Elizabeth Ann and Thomas Jr.

Turning to news of vacationers we learn that Capt. and Mrs. Byron Blackmore and their children, Barbara, Jean, Bob, and Dick, just returned to their Park Manor home after a two-week vacation at Little Wolf Lake in Minnesota. While at the lake they were joined by Mrs. Blackmore's brothers and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Malm, and Jerry Malm.

The holiday also included a visit with Mrs. Blackmore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Malm, in Grand Forks, N.D., and Capt. Blackmore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Blackmore, in Jamestown, N.D.

Sgt. and Mrs. Samuel Parker and their son Sammy, also were welcomed home from a vacation last week. The family spent their holiday in Colorado visiting in Colorado Springs, Denver, and Manitou Springs.

This week end Sgt. and Mrs. Parker will be entertaining out of town guests, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Tietgen and their son, Lane, of Topeka, Kan.

Hosting friends at a bridge party on Thursday afternoon at her home was Mrs. James Mann. The affair was in the nature of a farewell courtesy to Mrs. Clarence Flick who, with her family, is soon to be moving to California. Included among the guests were Mrs. Flick, Mrs. Louis Roseling, Mrs. William Cook, Mrs. Everett Terry, Mrs. Paul Ecelbarger, Mrs. Robert Morrison, and Mrs. Floyd Hibdon, who won top honors.

Understand that three-year-old Joe Wommack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Wommack, is now convallescing at home after undergoing an operation earlier this week at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Had Evening Service

MRS. GARY A. THOMSON

The chancel of Pella Reformed Church at Adams was screened with huckleberry foliage and appointed with lighted white candles and arrangements of bronze and gold chrysanthemums Friday evening, Aug. 23, for the wedding of Miss Jeanette Kroese of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Kroese of Firth, and Gary A. Thomson, son of Arthur Thomson of Palmyra. In the presence of 450 guests, the Rev. Gerrit Rezelman read the lines of the service, and the wedding music was played by Jack Cole, organist. Mr. Cole also accompanied the bride and bridegroom who sang a duet.

Miss Loraine Thomson of Palmyra, sister of the bridegroom, as the maid of honor, wore a waltz-length frock of cedar green crystallette accented with matching chiffon which formed a back bow ending in hem-length streamers. Costumed identically in a lighter shade of green were the bridesmaids, Miss Robert Faulder and Miss Arlene Bouwens, both of Lincoln. They carried sprays of autumn-tone chrysanthemums. Miss Kathryn Kleinendorst was the flower girl.

Serving his brother as best man was Milton Thomson of Palmyra, and the ushers were Glen Kroese and Garrit Kroese, Firth, brothers of the bride; Van Fletcher, Nebraska City; and Glen Engle, Lincoln.

The bride's gown of white embroidered crystallette was fashioned on princess lines. The sculptured bodice was designed with a shoulder-wide V decolletage, and the brief, shirred sleeves were complemented by wrist gloves of white kid. The very full skirt extended into a chapel train, and a plateau cap of the crystallette held her illusion veil. She carried a white Bible marked with a white orchid.

A reception was held in the church parlors. Mr. and Mrs. Thomson will make their home at San Anselmo, Calif., where the bridegroom will attend Presbyterian seminary. He is a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University and a member of Blue Key national honor society. Mrs. Thomson is a former student at the University of Nebraska.

TALK OF THE TOWN

SUCH festive news this morning! There are numerous parties, there are guests — there are homecomers — and there is news of soon-to-be brides — All in all it makes good reading — we hope.

Think we'll begin with news of Miss Janet Rogers — Pi Beta Phi at Nebraska, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noyes Rogers of Columbus. Miss Rogers, so we hear, has chosen Saturday, Dec. 28, as the date of her marriage to John W. Cadenhead of La Jolla, Calif. Although the wedding is a matter of four months away, parties already have begun for Miss Rogers due to the fact that she leaves soon to resume her duties as a member of the La Jolla public schools faculty — and also to the fact that the wedding will take place in La Jolla.

Last Wednesday Mrs. Rogers entertained at an engagement party for her daughter, and going from Lincoln to attend the affair was Mrs. Ralph Ireland, aunt of the bride-elect.

ON TUESDAY Miss Rogers and her mother will come to Lincoln to attend a coffee for which Mrs. Ireland will be hostess at her home in courtesy to the bride-elect. The guests have been invited for 10 o'clock.

Luncheon places will be arranged for 12, and the out of town guests will be Mrs. Allan Prell of Shenandoah and Mrs. William Vogelsang of Pittsburgh, Pa.

AND later today Miss Weatherhogg and her fiancé will share honors with Miss Mary Elizabeth Kinsinger and her fiancé, William Blue, when Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Davies entertain at a late afternoon swimming party and a barbecue at their cabin in South Bend. Sixteen guests have been invited.

A recent courtesy for Miss Weatherhogg and Mr. Wassung was the family dinner for which the bride-elect's aunt, Mrs. Wendell Alabaster of Seattle, Wash., was hostess.

THE current Saturday seems to be particularly festive. Our party calendar also includes the hors d'oeuvres party this evening for which Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Duling and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Gease will be hosts and hostesses at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gease, when they pay courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Earle Vincent Johnson of Washington, D.C., formerly of Lincoln. Thirty-five guests have been invited.

Mr. Johnson, deputy chief appraiser in the General Services Administration, department of public buildings, and Mrs. Johnson are spending a brief time in Lincoln, and will be honored at a variety of informal courtesies.

WE HEAR that Mrs. Arnett Folsom returned on Thursday from Seattle, Wash., where she had been the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edmiston.

Mr. and Mrs. Folsom planned off to Seattle several days ago to join Mr. and Mrs. Edmiston on a Canadian fishing trip. At the conclusion of the expedition into Canada Mrs. Folsom returned home, but Mrs. Folsom remained for a longer visit.

And incidentally — we have news of a new member of the Edmiston family — a Miss Karen Ann Shields who arrived on Aug. 12. The young lady is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Shields of Seattle, and her mother is the former Ann Edmiston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edmiston. We might add that Miss Karen Ann has a great-grandmother in Lincoln, Mrs. A. R. Edmiston.

SOMEONE told us that Mrs. Duane Rankin (Jane Mapes) of Iowa City, who is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. William Mapes, was a Friday hostess when she entertained a guest eightsome at luncheon and bridge at the home of her parents.

AND we just this moment heard that Mrs. Russell Young of Des Moines, will arrive today to spend the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Whitworth.

Square Dance

Is Planned

A square dance has been planned for Saturday evening and will be held at the Antelope Park pavilion. Dancing will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

Former Residents Are Honored

Mrs. C. Ned Cadwallader was coffee hostess on Friday morning when she entertained at her home in courtesy to Mrs. Earle V. Johnson and Mrs. Perry W. Morton, who with their families are visiting briefly in Lincoln. The honorees, as you no doubt know, are former Lincoln residents who now reside in Washington, D. C. since their husbands' appointments to government posts. Mr. Morton is assistant U.S. attorney general, and Mr. Johnson recently was named deputy chief appraiser, General Services Administration public building service.

From the left are honored guests, Mrs. Morton and Mrs. Johnson; their hostess, Mrs. Cadwallader; Mrs. Barney Schrepf and Mrs. Seth Scott.

REA Ladies Plan Meeting

Wives of Nebraska Rural Public Power leaders will meet in Lincoln on Monday in conjunction with the semi-annual meeting of the Nebraska Rural Electric Association, to be held at the Hotel Cornhusker.

A highlight of the ladies program, which will include tours of various places of interest in Lincoln, will be the luncheon on Monday noon for which Mrs. John M. Clema, Lincoln, and Mrs. Lyle Marotz, Hoskins, will serve as co-chairmen.

Mrs. Marotz will preside at the luncheon, for which Mrs. George Buchta of Osceola will give the invocation, and featured speaker will be Ronald W. Olson, whose topic will be, "Glamour Lighting Your Home."

Registration will begin at 8 o'clock Monday morning, with a meeting scheduled for 10 o'clock. For members of the association who will be arriving on Sunday evening, an informal card party has been planned.

Farewell Courtesy

In farewell courtesy to Mrs. Russell Erickson, 23 members of the PBX Club of Lincoln met for dinner Wednesday evening at the Triangle K. Restaurant.

Mrs. Erickson, who is a past president of the club, will leave with her family on Tuesday, Aug. 27, to reside in San Francisco.

Lynn Holland Is Party Honoree

Attractive Miss Lynn Holland, whose marriage to Dr. Richard Wieland will take place in October, was complimented on Friday morning when Mrs. M. C. Wieland, mother of the bridegroom-elect, entertained at a coffee at the Lincoln Country Club. Eight guests were invited between the hours of 10 o'clock and 12 o'clock. In the picture, left to right, are Mrs. Ted Barger, Miss Holland, Mrs. Wieland, Mrs. Gordon Jenkins, Mrs. Richard Miller, Mrs. Edward M. O'Shea, Jr., and Mrs. Donald Bloom.

Monroney Prods Ike On Health

... Urges Flu Shot

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was urged by Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) Friday to get an early shot of Asiatic flu vaccine, and not await his turn with other Americans.

Monroney

He objected to a statement by Eisenhower at a news conference this week that the President would take the vaccine "just as soon as ordinary people like I am can get it."

"I consider the President of the United States and the commander-in-chief one of those needed to maintain essential functions," Monroney told the Senate. "I hope he will not insist on waiting until every other American is vaccinated before he takes his turn."

Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney, who already has said Eisenhower would have a vaccine priority as one of those needed to maintain essential public services, said Friday he hopes an additional 2 to 2½ million doses of the new vaccine will be released next week.

The first batch of 502,000 doses was shared by military and civilian groups. Burney did not say how the big new batch would be allocated. Officials said that would be up to manufacturers of the vaccine and the groups they contract with.

The surgeon general said there was "no substance whatever" to a report that some of the original 502,000 doses had been recalled as substandard or harmful.

Rescue Squad Aids In Arrival Of Twin Babies

OMAHA (AP)—Fire Capt. Atwood Thomas, who has delivered 40-odd singles in six years, had his first set of doubles Friday.

He and his rescue squad crew helped with the arrival of twins at the Lyle C. Waddell family. The squad was called to the Waddell residence at 5:14 a.m. and pulled into the driveway just as the stork alighted.

Mrs. Waddell and a husky 6-pound 10-ounce boy were bundled into the ambulance. A girl, weighing 5 pounds 11½ ounces was born just as the ambulance pulled into the Immanuel Hospital emergency entrance.

"There has been fine initial progress," Morton added, and some short term steps are expected to be accomplished by the first of the year.

Unofficially, the group is called the Joint Federal-State Action Committee and is expected to identify and study functions now handled by the federal government that might be better handled by the states; try to work out some co-operative procedures that will allow the states to move into these fields and also determine what revenue sources now federally-controlled might be used by states to help finance their new operations.

His work as head of the lands division, Morton describes as encompassing "the whole gamut of legal operations in the field of federally owned land and resources."

Heads Staff Of 105

Heading a staff of 105 attorneys in Washington, D.C., Morton has jurisdiction over about 35,000 cases. A few hundred deal with the acquisition of land for the inter-state highway system on request of states, and others with the purchase of Nike sites to protect major cities and industrial areas.

The work is "tremendously interesting and challenging," Morton said, and adds that "it is also slightly wearing." Legal problems for federal lands — 21.3 per cent of the United States area — is a big job.

Morton and his family, including his wife, his daughter, Marilyn, and his son, Perry, arrived in Lincoln Wednesday and plan to stay until Monday.

They are guests of his mother, Mrs. P. J. Morton, and his brother, Bill Morton and his family.

Morton is a graduate of the University of Nebraska Law College and practiced law in Lincoln before his appointment in 1953 as Assistant U.S. Attorney General.
